

POLICE JUDGE GIVES VIEWS ON GAMBLING FINES

Monsarrat Says He is Opposed to Inflicting Maximum Against Chinese

Following the trial and conviction in police court this morning of 25 Chinese gamblers arrested by Detective Captain McDuffie's squad in an Aala lane dive Tuesday night, Judge Monsarrat stepped from his bench and unofficially took issue with an editorial in the Star-Bulletin Tuesday, which was in the nature of a query of how many gamblers would come back to court if the maximum sentence were assessed after each raid.

"It makes no difference whether I fine the defendants $5 or $1000," says the judge, "if their cases are appealed as the last few have been."

The judge said further that he was not in favor of giving the majority of Chinese gamblers who come before him a heavy sentence for many reasons.

"The Chinese have been accustomed to gamble at home unrestricted," he continued, "and they do not understand why it should be against the law. The majority of defendants who come before me are not professional gamblers, but hard working men who play for hope of a small gain or for amusement."

"Take, for instance, the cases before me this morning. Evidence was meager; the defendants all pleaded guilty; I believe the fine of $7.50 each which I gave was sufficient."

The judge then opened fire on the "higher ups."

"You do not see the rich man, the club man or the whist player for money in my court very often, do you?" he demanded. "No, I guess not. And still you might class a woman who plays whist continually for money as a professional gambler because she is practicing more or less all the time."

"And the club man or businessman who plays poker for high stakes sometimes, is he arrested and brought into my court? No, but he should know as well as the Chinese that gambling is against the law, and he should as a citizen of the United States help to hold its laws up to standard."

OUR YOUNG WOMEN

are so often subject to headache—are languid, pale and nervous—because their blood is thin or insufficient. They are not really sick and hesitate to complain, but they lack that ambition and vivacity which is their birthright. They do not need drugs—but do need the tonic and nourishment in Scott's Emulsion that makes richer blood, fills hollow cheeks, suppresses nervousness and establishes strength. Nourishment alone makes blood and Scott's Emulsion is the essence of concentrated nourishment, free from wines, alcohols or opiates.

If mother or daughter is frail, pale or nervous, give her Scott's for one month and see the betterment. It has a wholesome, "nutty" flavor. Avoid substitutes. At any drug store.

'KIDNAPPED' GIRL SUMMONED INTO JUVENILE COURT

Judge Ashford Scents Alleged Plot to Marry Her to an Enlisted Man

Has a married woman the right to "kidnap" her 15-year-old "sister" for a friend?

This question is puzzling juvenile court officials just now, and today A. Kalei Aona, clerk in Circuit Judge Whitney's court, was dispatched to Schofield Barracks to bring to Honolulu a young Portuguese girl said to be the victim of similar circumstances.

The sister of the girl, says Acting Judge Ashford, is married to a soldier and, on two former occasions, attempted to entice two of her other sisters, now employed in a local laundry, to Schofield with a view, "officials claim, of setting them up as brides of prospective bridegrooms living at the barracks."

Cut, says Judge Ashford, the attempts to "kidnap" these sisters failed, so the married woman on Wednesday succeeded in taking her younger sister away from Honolulu, ostensibly for a fake purpose.

Judge Ashford declares he will prevent any such marriage if possible, and Aona has been commissioned to seek out the girl and bring her into court. Judge Ashford says he wants to find out just what is what regarding the entire alleged transaction.

CAPT. LINCOLN TO REMAIN HERE AS N. G. H. INSPECTOR

The request of Capt. Charles S. Lincoln, 2nd Infantry, U. S. A., in charge of militia affairs for the Hawaiian department to be relieved as inspector-instructor of the National Guard of Hawaii, has been disapproved by the war department. It was learned at department headquarters today.

Washington has disapproved Captain Lincoln's request, army officers here say, because the war department believes him to be the best man available for this position, as he is acquainted with conditions in the islands and is experienced in handling militia affairs here.

Orders were recently received directing Captain Lincoln to take examination for promotion from captain to major in the regular army. The captain said today he will continue as inspector-instructor of the guard for the time being until further instructions from the war department.

HONOLULU IRON WORKS MANAGER OFF TO NEW YORK

C. J. Hedemann of the Honolulu Iron Works left today for New York on the Matsunaka. He will not stop on the Pacific coast to inspect the Mineral Products, Engels Copper Company and other properties, as he had expected to a short time since, but will go direct to New York from San Francisco because of the press of business which is waiting his attention and which is constantly on the increase.

The principal business which Hedemann will attend to is orders from Cuba for sugar machinery. "Business with that country has greatly increased during the past year," he said, "and we are forced to run at full capacity to meet the demands."

Hedemann will be away several months and during his absence W. G. Hall will be the new manager.

C. BREWER STOCK SELLS ON CHANGE AT HIGH FIGURE

More interest centered in a single sale on the stock exchange today than in all the other transactions combined. This was a transfer of 22 shares of the stock of C. Brewer & Co. for $450 per share. It was the first time that any Brewer & Co. stock has been dealt in for many months past and the former sale price has each day appeared on the list as $325. Curiosity was aroused by the sale, but all that could be learned as to the parties was that they were both clients of a trust company, so that only one house appears in the entire transaction.

Transactions fell back to a low level today. Between boards there were 192 shares dealt in and at the session 107. Prices remained firm. Olua was $18.25, Pals $24.9, Pioneer $41.75, San Carlos $16.50, Ewa $33.50 and Oahu $32.25.

Of the unlisted securities 1700 shares of Mountain King sold at 60 cents and 1800 at 65 cents. Mineral Products sold at 95 cents for 2500 shares.

Other quotations were: Oil $3.25, Engels Copper $2.40 to $2.50 and Tipperary $3.8 cents.

IS NOT IN FAVOR OF PURCHASE OF BABY ELEPHANT

"One of the silliest things ever done in Honolulu," is the way Attorney Joseph Lightfoot mentioned as a possible candidate for city attorney, refers to the recent purchase through Supervisor Ben Hollinger of an elephant from Ellis S. Joseph, the "bird man."

"We need good roads in Honolulu, and we also need a place to keep dependent boys and girls," argues Lightfoot. "But why under the sun $3000 should be spent on an elephant is more than I can figure out."

Lightfoot adds that eventually, he thinks, the city and county will buy the elephant from those who subscribed the $3000 to purchase it.

"Why do you think so?" he was asked today.

"So that the mayor and the members of the board of supervisors will have something to ride on," Lightfoot replied.

The attorney adds that, within a few days, his thoughts on the elephant matter will be more fully expressed in a communication to a local weekly newspaper.

CITY AFFAIRS AND SUPERVISOR NOTES

A bill for $200 for examination of the city auditor's books by the deputy bank examiner has been presented by the territorial treasurer.

A much discussed dance hall permit requested by some Filipinos at Ewa has been granted by the dance hall inspectors, the board was informed last night.

The city engineer and city attorney were instructed to take steps preliminary to condemning the Moiliili quarry, now under lease by the city. It is the city's only protection against a rise in the price of rock, and the supervisors do not want to see it pass out of the city's hands. The lease expires May 1, 1918.

Supervisor Hollinger may find that he literally has an elephant on his hands. He wants a house for the elephant that is coming to Kapolani park. He asked the board last night if it would appropriate $500 for a fence and other things an elephant needs. The finance committee was instructed to make a report on the subject.

The next meeting night, Tuesday, has been set as the one on which bids for Manoa bonds are to be opened. Delay of the supreme court in reaching a decision may hold this up. It is also set as the date for a public hearing on the Beretania street improvement project, which was held up by protests of property owners six months ago.

Supervisor Hatch's resolution expressing regret to the mayor and supervisors of San Francisco that health inspection of passengers from that port is required by the public health service of the United States in Honolulu was referred to the health committee at his request. "I do not want hasty action on this. If there are reasons for inspecting vessels coming here from San Francisco and putting our guests to inconvenience when San Francisco does not find it necessary to inspect vessels coming from Honolulu, I should like to have them presented before the committee," he said.

COMMAND SALUTE RINGS OUT CLEAR AMONG POLICE

All Entering Station Comply

Salute!

This was the command which greeted a Star-Bulletin representative as he stepped into the police station this morning.

Being of the voluntary military, automatically his heels clicked and four fingers, with thumb down, sought his Panama brim.

At ease again, he demanded of a burly "cop":

"What's the excitement?"

"Judge's orders," was explained by one.

"Hizzoner wants military courtesy," explained a second one.

And "We're practicing on you," the third told the newspaper man.

While this illuminating information was offered, all who came down the chute were ordered to salute.

The elder Chillingworth stood at dignified attention to Bailiff Joe No-briga; Deputy Sheriff Asch got a right-face recognition from a court visitor, and so the courtesies went on.

The elder Chillingworth's gray locks shook in animated glee when the reason for all the respectful motioning was told to him.

"What next?" he laughed. "What next?"

Sheriff Charles H. Rose says that Judge Monsarrat, charged into the sheriff's chambers Tuesday to demand why policemen did not show proper respect to the judge.

"The judge told me that Sam Ferrera, the motorcycle policeman who stopped a car in which the judge was riding a few nights ago because it did not have frosted headlights, had not shown the proper amount of respect to him in court," says Sheriff Rose.

"That was all right and if Sam was not respectful the judge should have ordered him out of the court room or arraigned him for contempt. He did neither. Therefore I do not think it was anything serious."

"But the judge went further. He told me that it was the duty of policemen to salute him, not only in his court room but on the street. He declared there was a territorial statute to that effect."

"I know of no such law. The judge has jurisdiction over my men only when they are in his court where they must behave properly, as must everyone else."

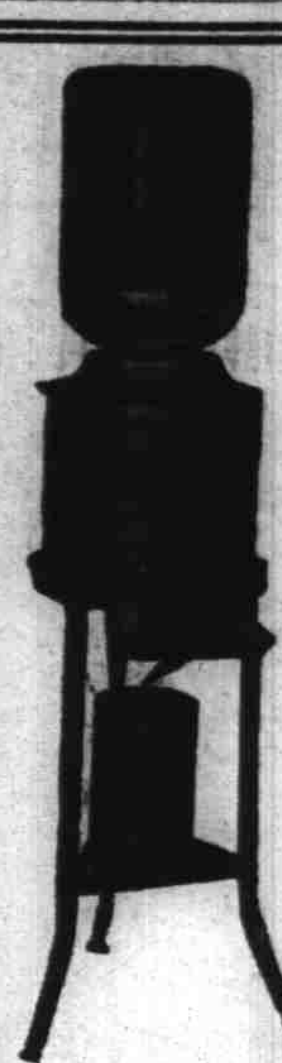

"Although all my men naturally salute me out of respect, there is nothing, to my knowledge, in the ordinances or statutes which demands such a courtesy and I have never demanded it."

Judge Monsarrat says that Ferrera always respectfully saluted until after the automobile incident. Since then, says the judge, he not only has refused to do so but carries himself most insolently in the judge's presence.

"I do not think it obligatory for any policeman to salute me on the street," explains the judge, "but most of them do out of courtesy and even Ferrera did until recently. It is his sudden breaking off that I did not like and to which I objected to the sheriff."
